Judges Cite Executive's Confidential Information Not Available to Congress

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
WASHINGTON Dec. 21—The Supreme Court upheld on neutrality of a 1931 arms embargo today in a decision administered office it believed stated a legal pathway for general neutrality legislation vesting broad executive authority in the President.

Government lawyers said in opinion no only removed any doubt of the constitutionality of the present neutrality law but also extended its extension of that act if the next congress so desired.

Loot to Secret Data

While the court's opinion was confined to Pres. Roosevelt's authority to forbid the sale of munitions in this country to him in recent Chaco war between Bolivia and Paraguay it noted the chief executive often had confidential information on foreign relations which was not available to congress. The committee to consider disclosure of the wisdom of requiring congress in this field of governmental power to lay down narrowly defined standards by which the President is to be governed.

The government had contended before the southern New York federal district court that the measure constituted an invalid delegation of legislative power to the President would operate to nullify in large part legislation to preserve American neutrality.

This ruling was reversed by the supreme court in a 7 to 1 opinion delivered by Justice Sutherland McReynolds dissenting.

As in former years there will be a half pound of candy, half a pound of nuts, an apple and an orange in the Christmas bag. The bag is in addition to the gift of dolls and toys for the boys and girls.

Tickets were distributed through the public schools Friday afternoon and for more than a week there has been a steady stream of youngsters calling at the Central fire station where tickets are distributed to the children not of school age and for the shut-ins.

Any one wishing to contribute to the Christmas party is asked to get in touch with Chief McFarland.

Both men spoke about their political careers and the President talked about his grandchildren and talked about mine but not my grandchildren.

ACTS TO HASTEN BUSINESS MAIL

A request that Marion business men place string or rubber bands around bundles of business mail to expedite its handling at the post office during the Christmas rush was made today by Postmaster L. H. Hubbard.

Business mail should be bound in this manner in order that postal employees may dispense with it from the mass Christmas mail and give it first attention he said.

The post office also has suggested that all business letters be placed in long envelopes during the Christmas mailing season to assure prompt handling.

By The Associated Press
FAYETTEVILLE, N.C. Dec. 22—Hank Anderson head football coach at North Carolina State College for the past three years was out of a job today by one of his staunch old alumni supporters threatened a court fight over the dismissal.

Soon after Dr. Frank P. Graham president of the Greater University of North Carolina—or which State is a unit announced a reorganization of the athletic set up which eliminated Anderson. Dave Clark, alumni representative on the athletic council said:

We believe he (Dr. Graham) has acted in an illegal manner and shall test his authority in court.

The we in Clark's statement was not explained.

Clark said he understood Predictor Graham claims that he acted under a remnant of the discredited Cramton plan which was accidentally left in the Southern conference rules and which states that the athletic director and coaches shall be chosen by the president.

The athletic council was legal is created by the trustees who have authority under the laws of North Carolina whereas the Southern conference is simply an association of colleges and without legal authority.

The contract of Anderson for one Notre Dame coach expires on Dec. 31. His teams have had up and down seasons and this year's record was three won and seven lost.

REFRESHING DRINK FOR HOLIDAYS

Fruit punch makes a refreshing drink for Yuletide parties and dances. Sprigs of green mint and red maraschino cherries add a holiday touch.

mashed potato and the dissolved yeast cake.

Place a bowl cover and let rise in a warm place for two hours. Work in one quart of flour (four cups). Put aside to rise two hours more. Then divide it some dough to be stored in refrigerator.

Form into tea rolls. For clever rolls, use three marble-like balls in a greased muffin tin. For Parker house rolls, cut a circle from the surface and fold over like the flap of an envelope.

For sweetened breakfast buns, place one teaspoon sugar & a bit of shortening and a few chopped nuts in the bottom of each muffin tin. Cover with a small portion of the dough.

After the rolls are formed and ready in the pans, let rise one and one half hours more. Bake in a hot oven 10 to 15 minutes. These are particularly delicious for a luncheon. For breakfast they may be ribboned with a few drops of cream and reheated.

Banbury Tarts

This recipe makes eight delicious tarts and is another good holiday suggestion.

Mix one half cup each, chopped raisins, dates, figs and nuts. Combine with two cups light brown sugar and two tablespoons sifted flour.

Add two eggs well beaten, the juice of one lemon and the grated rind. Mix well. Cook in the top of the double boiler, stirring constantly until the mixture thickens. Cool slightly.

Have ready plain pastry and roll out to one half inch thickness. Cut in four inch squares. Place a portion of the filling on each square.

Moisten the edges with cold water, fold over diagonally and press the edges together with a fork.

Bake in a 300 degree oven eight to 10 minutes or until pastry is a delicate brown.

Ginger Fruit Salad

For a Sunday night supper or luncheon special in winter, this salad is always popular. It will serve six guests.

Two large red apples, one small banana, one small orange, one half cup seedless white grapes, one half cup sliced nuts, one-fourth cup chopped candied ginger French dressing, watercress, few drops lemon or lime juice.

Core apples and dice without peeling. Sprinkle with lemon juice at once to prevent discoloration.

Add sliced bananas, orange sections, stemmed grapes, chopped nuts and ginger. Mix lightly with French dressing and serve on crisp watercress.

Raised Rolls

What could be a nicer surprise than home made raised rolls during the holiday season? I can touch for this recipe since I just enjoyed some warm rolls made from it.

This recipe makes large quantities and the measurements may be divided for a small family or half of the dough may be reserved in a covered bowl in a very cold refrigerator. The reserve quantity should be removed after the second rising and placed in refrigerator where it will keep for several days.

One cup mashed potato, one cup sifted flour, one cup sweet warm milk, two beaten eggs, one cup granulated sugar, two-thirds cup melted shortening, one yeast cake dissolved in one-fourth cup warm water.

Mix the sugar and beaten egg. Melt the shortening in a saucepan and pour the milk on it, mixing until milk is heated. Add to the first mixture. Add sifted flour.

SALLY'S Philip Page, young publisher of "The Warrenton Courier," fell in love with his attractive boss, Sally Morris. Wealthy Miss Morris, however, didn't like him despite his manly ways. Philip, however, was determined to impress his employer. One Sunday evening he engaged his mother, Mary, as a nurse for an evening. Sally was a disengaged woman, a divorcee. Philip, thinking she was still too young for him, finally convinced her to leave him and marry him. Her mother, however, was still there where she meets him. (Continued)

HAPPY ELDERTY SALLY

The Motorcycle Club
Philip Page, editor of "The Warrenton Courier," had a date with Sally Morris, his attractive boss. Sally watched him at the corner of the office window. She was plenty of time to the door, however. He had to stand outside, as the door was locked. She came to the letterbox, he went up to her. When she said "No," he said "Yes." She called to get the key. (Continued)

Sally phoned Philip about the motorcycle club. He did not scoff nor seem excited.

With me after office hours—want me to work I mean—I shall be at home from now on. I'm leaving today," leaving, Mary's house.

"I'm sorry it's that frowns Philip. Anything happened?"

"No—I simply feel that I'd better be at home."

From your point of view, you're probably right," said Philip. "For Mary it's pretty bad. She told me how much it has meant to her to have you stay. And I suppose you've got something out of it too."

Sally went out hoping that he would call her back and tell her what progress he was making in the McDonald case. She could have wept at the change in Philip. It was as if he had decided to shut her out—shut her out of his work and his friendship.

What had made him decide to do that?

She had been honest with him when he said he loved her. She had told him she still loved Jerry Maynard. But she had not expected that to make a difference in their friendship. If Philip had really loved her, he could not feel so unkindly toward her now. And if he had been playing a game with her when he said he loved her then she had fallen into the trap and taken him seriously. Her face burned with shame at the recollection of how seriously she had listened to him.

Sally Defends McDonald

At the o'clock Sally went to Mary's house and picked her things. She stood and looked about the big room when she heard the telephone. It had never really been hers. Now that she had taken away her things, it looked anything but dismantled. Sally went downstairs where Dennis was waiting by the car. Neither Mary nor her father was at home.

"Goodby, Dennis," said Sally. "Tell Miss Morris I couldn't wait to see her before I left."

"Goodby, Miss Warren," said Dennis. "You'll be missed here. I'm sure."

Thank you, Dennis."

Sally found that she had few explanations to make for leaving the Morris house. Her own family thought it natural enough that she should come home since her father was engaged in defending the man whom Mr. Morris was pressuring.

The case against McDonald looks serious, said her father over his after-dinner pipe. There is terrible testimony that a fire was just ready to be touched off in the basement of the theater the day McDonald went there first. An employee found the charred stuff the first time and carried it out.

But why should a man who had a grudge against Mr. Morris want to sacrifice the innocent people who were simply going to the theater?" demanded Sally.

Sometimes in anger people go to extremes, said her father.

The rage they feel against one person or group seems to border on everyone more fortunate than themselves.

Tax Expert Explains Ohio's New Job Insurance Law

939 Worker Can Get $15 A Week Maximum in Weeks Out of Year If He Can't Find Work

The following is the explanatory article which became part of the Billmiller Law at earlier under state and author's name:

Similar To Other Laws

In the main the Ohio statute adds most to the general provisions found in the law in other states. Although it does not include some highly desirable features which appear in some of the others, it seems to be a fair practical and workable act.

Although expense in the country with respect to a sample of unemployment compensation is very limited, it is hoped that the new measure will provide a minimum of insurance in unemployment insurance fund on a separate from state funds is created to be used for the payment of unemployment benefits. No part of this fund may be used for administrative expenses.

The benefit of the new law will be available to all among the rapidly increasing number of state workers who have been in contact with the federal government. It was effective Jan. 1, 1937.

Employers are protected in a somewhat different way from possible abuses. For example an employer may not deduct the amount of his contribution to the state fund from the wages of his employees for the better way to receive benefits or a gift which they are given under the law. They may not be charged for any kind of unemployment compensation or by any employer or by any employer or its officers. Benefits are provided for calculating payments for partial unemployment. The maximum weekly benefit is $15 for a period not exceeding 16 weeks.

Some Workers Exempt

Certain types of employment are exempt either because of certain conditions or because of the nature of the work.

After Jan. 1, 1937, a worker will be eligible to receive out of the unemployment fund an amount of compensation for total unemployment equal to 50 per cent of his average weekly wages. A formula is provided for calculating payments for partial unemployment.

The maximum weekly benefit is $15 for a period not exceeding 16 weeks.

Court Could Kill Law

It is declared in the statute that the unemployment law has been adopted by Ohio as part of a national plan and that if the federal social security act is held unconstitutional or is otherwise terminated the Ohio law also is to become ineffective. It is further provided that all funds standing to the credit of the state in the federal unemployment trust fund together with the monies in the several state funds are to be held by the state treasurer until provisions for their disposition is made by the general assembly.

Although the laws of most of does not appear in the Ohio law.

Boy, 4, is "Veteran" Bowler

By The Associated Press

DALLAS Tex — Dallas claims the youngest bowler in the country—Frank Sonner Jr. The youngest—and at the same time the most promising—of the many of the most enthusiastic of alleys hereabouts—Frank is just 4 years old. Harding's coach, Alton, still too light to handle a regular bowling ball, has been twirling buck pin balls ever since he could lift them.

Young Frank was born to the team. His father is one of the bowlers in the city. His mother is an ardent fan.

Two or three nights each week

the family can be found at a

Dallas alley, the father competing, the mother competing, and Frank Jr. who now is left-handed exhibiting his skills to interested spectators.

Mr. Sonner used to sit down in front of the bowlers and tell them how she was to be

Veteran players say Frank

Herman, Hartnett Again Win Fielding Honors in National League Records

Marks Include That of Al Lopez, Boston Catcher With Only One Passed Ball in 127 Contests

BY SID LEADER
The Associated Press
DETROIT—Al Lopez, Boston's 30-year-old catcher, has the National League record for the season with only one passed ball in 127 contests.
Gabe Hartnett, the Cubs' 30-year-old, was one better than Lopez with 128. He had 127 in 1935.
The two Cubs to tie fielding title—
the third straight year—had turned their records over to the Cardinals.
Other players, from the off-and-and-in line, have had Dugler, 30, a recent trade

The Sportsman

BY LARRY BALMER
Photographing animals and birds is no longer a hobby, it's a lost art of stalkers.

Even with a telephoto lens the stalker can't get the object of his desire. Development of rifles and cartridges to a point where marksmen could kill at long range obviated the close approach needed in other days.

Until the modern invention took up the center the diamond pioneer method of shooting within bow or black powder range of game was passing into the realm of forgotten things.

Nowadays an increasing number of sport men are taking up hunting and trapping traps.
Some with whom we talked admitted getting a bigger kick from shooting with the gun than with the gun.

During a recent open session one said I was only two deer neither legal. With my camera I was able to get a pretty fair shot of a young buck. At least I have something to show for my trip.

Another told how for lack of a camera he took the charge for a picture which might have been titled "Game Birds at the Water hole." Attracted by several hawk circling above a spring (reduced by drought to mere trickle) he crawled near and peered through the weeds.

Grouped about the water were several quail and prairie chickens two pheasants and half a dozen rabbits. He made a blind and tried at various times for a week to get a shot but the birds failed to return in numbers as he first saw them.

Ducks don't give a darn what they drink are committing suicide by thousands on the Laramie, Arizona, Negele and California desert.

Facts were Novell P. Cook Utah game commisioner say more ducks from tainted water than ever.

Southward bound the ducks dip in pools and soon become gorged.
Then necks go limp their legs become paralyzed and they exhibit all the signs of extreme intoxication—but it's worse than that.
It's duck sickness—desert dysentery—caused by stale water.

The birds die in great numbers when a ralidorm has left tiny pools in the desert.

Cook points out efforts are made to rescue birds—they recover quickly in fresh water. More effective,

JOHN G. DAUGHERTY DIES AT HOME HERE

Illness of Six Weeks Causes Death; Funeral Rites To Be Tuesday.

John G. Daugherty, 76, a retired laborer, died yesterday at 3 a.m. at his home at 813 Silver street where he lived with a sister and brother. He had been ill for the last six weeks.

He was a member of St. Mary Catholic church and of the Holy Name society.

Surviving are the sister and brother, Mrs. William J. Murphy and Michael Daugherty. His wife preceded him in death on Nov. 6, 1927.

Mr. Daugherty was born April 13, 1860, at Minerton, O., to James and Martha Moran Daugherty, both natives of Ireland. He was married in St. Mary church in Marion.

The requiem mass will be celebrated Tuesday at 8 a.m. at St. Mary Catholic church. Burial will be made in the St. Mary cemetery. The body may be viewed at the church.

The Imbody home was decorated in keeping with the holiday season and the annual Christmas exchange was held. A fourteen dancer was enjoyed at the noon hour. In contests Mrs. Edward Black and Mrs. E. B. Prettyman were awarded prizes. A Christma poem was read by Mrs. R. M. Imbody and Mrs. Eva Gorham of Marion told of her trip through the west. An evening meeting will be held in January with Mrs. W. V. Imbody.

MORRAL M. E. CLASS

A Christmas basket of fruits and jellies will be filled at a meeting of the Lotus class of the Morral M. E. church Tuesday night with Mrs. H. C. Schultz. Gifts will be exchanged and there will be a Christmas program.

Born To Be Queen— "Lilibet" Is A Veteran Bridesmaid and Thinks She's Already "Grown Up"

PRINCESS REJECTS SUITOR

Princess Elizabeth once became angry with Gerald Lascelles, her cousin playmate (seen here with her in the garden of her London home), and solemnly warned him: "I shan't marry you when I grow up!"

Second of three articles on Princess Elizabeth, daughter of Britain's new king and next in line for succession to throne.

BY CHARLES NORMAN
Associated Press Writer

PRINCESS ELIZABETH, heir apparent to the throne of Great Britain, was christened under prophetic circumstances in the private chapel of Buckingham palace.

Dressed in a long lace robe which had adorned the persons of George V and Edward VIII, on a similar, solemn occasion, the daughter of the then Duke and Duchess of York was named Elizabeth Alexandra Mary.

"After three queens," whispered the good citizens of London and of the County of Forfarshire, Scotland, ancient seat of the Duchess of York's family, the Earls and Countesses of Strathmore. Gun salutes and beacon fires blazed on the hill-tops, for the people saw in the advent of this child a possible future ruler.

A decade of swift change now

FIRST: put down the cash price of the things you want to buy, say $200
THEN: put down the amount of your outstanding bills and debts, for example . . . $350
SIMPLY: add these figures . . . $550
NOW: figure up how much you are paying on your debts...say $40 per month.

NEXT: get a loan at The City Loan of $550 cash, clear all debts, buy yourself what you need...and start paying on your loan later on...at only $40 per month.

RESULT: A $200 gift for yourself...with no increase in monthly expenses.

BESIDES: as you pay, your payments step-down and keep getting less and easier to pay all the time.

A ROYAL DOG'S LIFE

Princess Elizabeth is as fond of dogs as is her "Uncle David," who took his dog with him when he left England's throne.

the death of George V, the accession of the Prince of Wales, his abdication, and the accession to the throne of the mightiest empire in the world of 30-year-old Elizabeth's father and mother. During the arrival of male heir to the crown, now considered unlikely, blue-eyed Elizabeth of York will reign on the death of her father.

What is she like, this little golden-haired princess for whom the affection of her people has grown with every public appearance and whose popularity already rivals that of Edward when he was Prince of Wales and heir to the throne?

Thrilled by Pageantry

She is a slender child, thrilled by the pomp and pageantry of her country, and no longer bashful before cheering crowds. Her blue eyes and features reflect the Germanic strain of the royal family and her resemblance to her father's kin is more marked than it is to her mother's.

In recent years, like all little women under 10, she has shot up fast and turned long-legged until today she is like a slender flower of a girl crowned with the gold of her hair. Indeed, so pretty a picture does she make among the flowers of her own garden at the royal lodge in Windsor Great Park that her father has often photographed her there—a flower of a princess among nature's blossoms.

Queen Mary, who has spent many hours with her, calls her

LAWRENCE OUTLINES LABOR WAR VIEWS

them the Giffey act.

The latter law was a virtual guarantee of profits to the coal industry at the expense of the consuming public. It is the first stage of fascism and if John Lewis should get control of the basic industry of America, the public may insist on a form of government intervention to protect the public against both labor and capital, their some in legal sequence with restriction on individual liberty and on the freedom of the press.

All this may paint a picture of crises industrial and governmental and, if it had not happened in other countries of the world there would be reason for considering such an evolution of events as fascist. The triumph, however, of the biggest and most successful industry in the United States—automobile production at the height of the season is the more serious than is generally realized. It may mark the beginning of the rise and then the fall of labor unions in America, for, ultimately, as the economic damage is extended, government control of labor unions may be forced, just as has government control of holding companies, monopolies, and the affairs of large corporations.

The effort to monopolize the labor field is not likely to be accompanied with equanimity by the skilled workmen whose wages must eventually be leveled by the process or by the consumers whose prices must inevitably be increased.

by the process. And when labor and capital fight one another with the consumer suffers, the inevitable result is more and more misery within the state.

One solution which would prevent such a career of events is labor or the status of corporations, the voluntary acceptance by unionists that collective bargaining would readily be accepted by all corporations employers and the so-called company-dominated unions eliminated. That's the basis of the peace marked out by Truman's concession rather than by the building of an industrial dictatorship which can only bring a form of political-industrial fascism patterned on European lines.

SOVIET MASSES ASSAIL FRANCO

Demand Government Send Warships to Spain After Sinking of Red Vessel

By The Associated Press
MONDAY Dec 22 — Red workers in metallurgical plants in the Soviet Union demand that the Spanish government allow a squadron of ships to pass through Spanish waters to the port of Barcelona after the sinkings of two Soviet ships.

The miners have asked the International Federation of the Metal Workers' Union to support their demands and the government of Spain has agreed to do so.

In addition to demanding that the Spanish government meet the miners' demands, the Soviet sailors are threatening to go on strike if no agreement is reached.

In addition to demanding that the Spanish government meet the miners' demands, the Soviet sailors are threatening to go on strike if no agreement is reached.

The miners followed the news that the Komsomol had been burned by a Spanish Fascist war vessel as it was en route to Spain from the Black Sea port.

The foreign office declined to predict what action Russia would take in retaliation. It cannot protest to them diplomatically as it does not recognize Gen. Francisco Franco as a legal government.

Diplomats believe the government in the future might prohibit the convoy of destroyers to protect the merchantmen en route to Spain. It was also considered likely that Britain might ask France and Great Britain to cooperate in sending naval vessels in the category of pirates.

Sailors in several Black Sea ports according to reports in yesterday's papers have adopted resolutions declaring:

We must improve our military knowledge in order to defend our socialist fatherland at any moment. Pirates will answer for the destruction of our ship.

The Tass news agency officially denied warships had actually been sent to the troubled sector near Giblitz where the Soviet routes lie. Giblitz where the Soviet routes lie.

The Komsomol was burned by a Spanish Fascist war vessel as it was en route to Spain from the Black Sea port.

Observers felt Russia was unlikely to make any overt move but probably would increase its pressure on the Spanish government.

Fascists Shell Pozuelos

By The Associated Press
MADRID Dec 22—Fascist bombers shelled Pozuelos today and launched a fresh attack on government lines near the San Fernando bridge.

Government concentrations were bombed near Bondillo, D. I. Monte and Moncloa but little damage was reported.

The war ministry declared the Socialist defenders made several advances in the northern areas and had captured Cerate hill near Bilbao.

Government artillery fired an armament and the telephone building in Osedo. It was canceled and Socialist infantry drove back from Montemundo pass.

Ports Mined, Says Franco

LISBON Portugal Dec 22—The insurgent Spanish radio station at Salamanca broadcast today an official warning credited to Gen. Francisco Franco for neutral shipping to be wary of Torregrossa, Barcelona, Valencia, Alacant, Cartagena, Valencia, Gijon, Santander and Bilbao.

The man who served 11 years of his life term for the 1916 slaying of a young Kentucky widow displayed no emotion as he was led to his jail cell.

Judge O'Brien ordered the black man held in the Franklin county jail—where two of three accused of Miller's death were awaiting trial for two weeks—and one day before removal to Indiana state prison at Michigan City.

Stephen L. Blakely, Covington lawyer who led the fight to save Hicks life, maintained an appeal would be filed within 30 days.

To Wagnerian music Al Smith was born on a stretcher. Restoration of his broken derby revealed him and he sang. He turned the tables on me.

James A. Farley couldn't qualify as a major prophet. Isaias said because all he did was count the names on the payroll.

During the evening Mrs. Roosevelt gave her annual party at the White House for the Cullinan children whose husbands were at the front.

Newspaper women presented a short program featured by a single production of Romeo and Juliet. Ethel Lupoff and Franklin Stern, Mr. William Randolph Hearst and John Roettiger, the Duke of Windsor and Mr. Wallis Simpson, Mrs. Roosevelt gave an off the record stunt.

One number showed the newspaper women seeking ideas for the program.

If we can't think of anything else, and one we might do is the play about Mr. Simpson and Mr. and Mrs. But what want to be Mr. Simpson?" I would shout a dozen.
